Elegant glass kettle with a capacity of 1.7 l

The ECG RK 1750 electric kettle from the Stripe design series will impress you at first glance with its elegant appearance, which combines tempered glass, robust high-gloss plastic and stylish chrome accessories. Due to its 1.7 liter volume, it is also ideal for preparing a larger amount of hot water at once - it will be great for example when you are hosting a guest and need to quickly prepare tea or coffee for several people at once. The practical water mark allows you to easily monitor the amount of water inside, so you have everything under control. The kettle operates with a power of 1850–2200 W, so it can heat water for tea or coffee extra quickly. You are reliably informed about its current operation via the stylish blue backlight. Last but not least, the storage space for the power cord located in the base is also a practical feature.

Easy maintenance and reliable operation

Maintenance of this designer kettle is easy thanks to the hidden heating element and the removable top lid - when you need to clean the kettle quickly, you can simply remove the lid and get inside comfortably. The removable anti-limescale filter also ensures that the water is always clean, which you will appreciate especially in areas with hard water, where deposits form quickly. Thanks to the central connector 360° base, the kettle also offers convenient operation - even if you often move between the counter and the dining table while cooking, you always have it within reach.

Safe use

Safety is a top priority for the ECG RK 1750 Stripe kettle. It has a practical boil-dry protection. It also has a safety automatic switch-off function. And the handle is thermally insulated, so you can comfortably carry the appliance even when the water has just boiled (without risking burns). The rated voltage of the kettle is standard 220–240 V (50 Hz).
