Effortless Cooking

Preparing rice may at first glance seem like a completely trivial task, and buying a rice cooker might appear to be an unnecessary luxury. However, if you are not very experienced in the kitchen or often cook in a hurry, you certainly won't regret purchasing this helpful appliance. You can also prepare couscous, millet, buckwheat, potatoes and vegetables in it – always with perfect results.

Compact and handy

Despite its compact dimensions, the ECG RZ 060F rice cooker can hold up to 450 g of uncooked rice, which means enough side dish for a family of four. If the main dish you serve with the rice is not ready yet, there is no need to worry – the rice cooker can keep the contents warm without electricity for up to 3 hours after cooking has finished.

Comfortable operation and easy maintenance

The cooking pot with a non-stick surface can be easily removed from the rice cooker after use and washed. The glass lid is equipped with an insulated handle, so you don't have to worry about possible burns. The package also includes a practical plastic measuring cup for determining the correct ratio of rice and water, as well as a spatula that makes it easy to remove the cooked contents from the pot.
