A blender made for everyday preparation

With the ECG FORZA 1800 Ultra Mix hand blender, you can quickly prepare sauces, soups, dips, mayonnaise, baby food and favourite drinks. It is designed to help with everyday cooking and with moments when ingredients need to be processed fast. The compact body is easy to handle and does not take up unnecessary space in the kitchen.

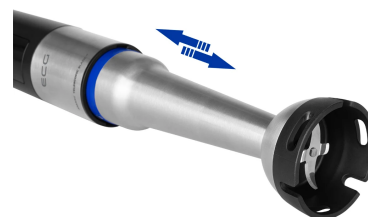

Better control over speed

The blender offers 5 speed levels, clearly supported by a light indicator on the top of the appliance. You can easily see how intensively the blender is working. Lower power is ideal for delicate ingredients, while higher speeds help with thicker mixtures or faster processing. When you need instant performance, simply use the practical TURBO button.

Stainless steel design for comfortable use

The detachable blending attachment is made of stainless steel, which is suitable for frequent contact with food and easy to maintain. The stainless steel blades also help process ingredients efficiently to the desired texture. The ergonomic handle makes the appliance comfortable to hold, even during longer preparation.

Easy operation and maintenance

ECG FORZA 1800 Ultra Mix also makes things easier after blending. The attachment can be removed and cleaned without unnecessary effort. Practical overheating protection supports safer operation of the appliance. With its performance, intuitive controls and easy maintenance, it becomes a reliable helper for everyday kitchen use.
